The Miracle of America's Highway Transport

Just the other day we noted the Kansas City Southern Lines' decision to drop all passenger runs on the KCS and affiliated L. & A., and a news-story in today's edition reports Interstate Highway 30 is now open from Fulton to Texarkana. The two lines have a direct relation, of course.

There will always be railroads, but their meaning has changed since the day the Cairo & Fulton tracks (now Missouri Pacific's) came through here literally creating the city of Hope. Just as the railroads displaced the rivers as No. 1 transporters so today America's network of highways has undercut the rails. KCS specifically cited highway and air transport competition as having reduced rail passenger traffic to a prohibitive-loss operation.

Our generation, therefore, has been eye-witness to historic change.

In a single life-span America's jumble of local roads has been developed into a network of super-highways capable of eliminating the need for railroad passenger trains. If, like this writer, you can remember the first automobile you ever saw — mine was a red Brush one-cylinder machine coming down a street in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., about 1904, with everyone clutching the reins of their terrified horses — then you know how great this miracle is. Starting with the question "Will it work?" the automobile in a single generation has demolished rail passenger service.

The crowning achievement, of course, is the Interstate Highway System now nearing completion. I believe I spotted its beginning, back in the 1930's, when bypasses were constructed around the towns in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley on U.S. 11 heading north for Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York — and simultaneous building of bypasses around the tangled traffic of St. Louis.

Now the bypass system is universal, with the Interstate System lifting auto traffic to long-distance railroad speed.

Opening of the Interstate link between Fulton and Texarkana is the latest chapter. The final one for our section will be completion of Interstate 30 between Red River and Fulton and Little Missouri River east of Prescott.

Board Won't Object to Search Audit

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — State Penitentiary Board Chairman Jeff D. Wood of Cabot said Thursday that if anyone wanted to conduct a "search audit" of the Penitentiary at their own expense that the Board would not object.

Wood said the Board had never been opposed to a "search audit" but had rejected a motion to conduct such an audit because the money for the audit would have come from feeble penitentiary revenues.

No Tax Hike Before 1968, Says Mills

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The American taxpayer won't pay higher income taxes this year but might in 1968 if President Johnson cuts spending enough, says Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mills told reporters Thursday it's one of the questions for Congress to pass the administration's complex tax bill in the remaining weeks of the current session of Congress.

The Arkansas Democrat's remarks followed completion of his committee's hearings on Johnson's plan for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, combined with an administration spending cut plan.

In presenting the plan, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said it would be unthinkable not to start work on it promptly.

But Mills let the hearings lapse without scheduling any working sessions.

"We will reconvene, however, whenever there is more for the committee to consider on which we can appropriately take action," he said.

Mills said he assumed the next move would be for Budget Director Charles L. Schultz to discuss the proposed spending cuts with the House Appropriations Committee.

The tax spending plan would require action by three committees — ways and means for the $7.4 billion tax increase; Appropriations for spending cuts, projected at $4.1 billion but which Mills said should be greater; and Government Operations for a proposal, initiated by Mills, for a commission to make a long-range study of government programs.

Mills said he doubts even his committee could complete its part of the work by Jan. 1.

Mills said the administration should be able to cut expenditures by $2 billion to $3 billion more than its estimate, and that such a cut "would enhance the acceptance of a tax increase by

Conspiracy to Dump Santa Claus Brings Plea to Save Him

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Help save Santa Claus!

For some years there has been an adult conspiracy afoot to dump the Jolly Old Saint in the nearest garbage can.

They are the people who complain Christmas has become over-commercialized, has lost its real meaning, and blame it all on the big fat fellow with the white whiskers.

"We'd be better off without Christmas," they mutter, as the seasonal sound of "Jingle Bells" begins to jangle their nerves.

"The whole thing has just become a big business promotion of hypocritical sentimentality."

There is, of course, some truth in what they say. Undoubtedly there is a high percentage of molasses in the sticky good will that inundates the western world at Christmas. Undoubtedly a lot of business institutions — perhaps even the U.S. Post Office — make a profit out of Christmas, and a lot of employees earn big sums in overtime pay. And undoubtedly a lot of people get presents they don't need and, in return, give presents that others don't want.

A fellow has to admit also that the incessant din of "Jingle Bells" can weary even the most loyal ear.

But none of this is any reason to dismiss poor old Santa Claus as a pious fraud or a tool of capitalism.

Naturally he has his faults. In a time of overpowering conformity he remains a stubborn old-fashioned nonconformist.

No business luncheon club would admit to membership an oddball who wears a red stocking cap, red suit, and black boots.

Production-wise, his manufacturing facilities are overcentral-

Many Areas Digging Out of Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Residents of the heavily populated belt from Washington to New York manned shovels, brooms and plows today as they began to dig out from the first heavy snowfall of the season.

The storm swirled across the Eastern Seaboard Thursday and dumped up to 12 inches of snow on the string of cities stretching from Virginia, through Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey into New York.

The nation's capital was buried under a half-foot of snow, and as much as 12 inches fell in suburban areas in Virginia and Maryland.

Government agencies remained open but some of them allowed workers to leave early. Many schools closed and sent their charges home for the day. Downtown stores that planned to stay open until 9 p.m. closed at 6.

The snow forced cancellation of flights to and from Washington National Airport and Friendship International Airport, between Washington and Baltimore. But Dulles International Airport at Chantilly, Va., continued to operate as crews alternately cleared one runway and then another.

Today's racing program at Laurel Race Course at Laurel, Md., was canceled.

Youth Group to Hear Astronaut

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Marine Maj. Jack Robert Lousma, an astronaut, will be the guest speaker at an organization meeting Saturday of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's Youth Council. The meeting will be held at Winrock Farms on Pettit Jean Mountain and is expected to attract some 250 youths.

Endley began farming in 1951 as a laborer receiving 25 cents an hour. By 1954 he had bought a used tractor and rented 90 acres of cotton. He built his present farm, which he has operated since 1958, by buying land and renting additional cotton acreage.

The family began a beef program with 85 cows three years ago and by breeding to registered bulls now has a top herd of 275 brood cows.

Endley and his wife are the parents of five daughters, Betty Carol, 15; Dorothea, 13; Becky, 11; Pat, 8, and Beth, 3.

He goes down chimneys asked or unasked, thereby committing the arrestable offense of breaking and entering.

On the other hand, there is much to be said in favor of Santa Claus.

For example: He is the only grownup over 30 years of age that all children still believe and have faith in.

He is faithful to his wife. He has never had a divorce or been caught in a love nest.

He has a perfect safety record. He has never been in a traffic accident or dented a pedestrian. You don't find many drivers like that, old or young.

As a boss, he maintains exemplary relations with his workmen. His elves have fine morale, and none has ever been known to quit or go on strike.

And he did it all without government help. Santa Claus has never so much as asked Lyndon Johnson or Congress for even a landing and take-off strip for his reindeer. What other industry can make this claim?

The fact is that Santa Claus is the biggest Horatio Alger success story in modern history.

Through it all he has kept his sense of humor and love of people. Like the One whose birthday is celebrated at Christmas, he extends hope and forgiveness to all, remembering the naughty child as well as the good.

McNamara Satisfied Regardless of What Many Others Think

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Both in public and in private, President Johnson is saying Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's shift to the presidency of the World Bank reflected McNamara's own desire — and that Johnson felt powerless to stand in his way.

Moreover, no matter what others may think, Johnson seems satisfied McNamara is content with the way the President handled the situation and will depart the Cabinet with only warm feelings and appreciation for Johnson's role in the matter.

The President portrays himself as the target of wholly unjustified charges, speculations and innuendos that somehow he eased McNamara out of the federal government for political or other purposes.

In the Chief Executive's view, the Pentagon boss will be shifting from first base to shortstop when he resigns to become president of the 107-nation bank.

And Johnson insists that, had the decision been the President's alone, McNamara would have remained on first base indefinitely.

If some baseball fans feel the shortstop has more status than the first baseman, perhaps it might be well noted Johnson was a first baseman in his younger days.

McNamara has been ap-

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Troyce Endley of Lafayette County, who said he "almost starved for three years" after beginning farming in 1951, and his family were named Arkansas Farm Family of the Year today at a banquet in Little Rock.

Endley raises cotton, soybeans and alfalfa and has a beef herd on his 4,000-acre farm near the Bradley community.

He estimates crop this year to include 1,500 bales of cotton from 750 acres and 36 bushels of soybeans per acre from 400 acres.

Would Delay Boys Training School Order

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal Judge Oren Harris was asked Thursday by the state attorney general's office to wait until after a special session of the legislature before ordering the state's boys' training schools at Pine Bluff and Wrightsville desegregated.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert D. Smith III said that a bill which would consolidate the boys' and girls' training schools under one board and department "will almost certainly be presented to the special session" which Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has said he will call between Jan. 1 and Feb. 1.

Smith said the bill had been recommended by the Arkansas Legislative Council and that under the bill each school would be classified for a particular type of offender.

"It is our contention that the bill, if enacted into law, would be a plan of desegregation which would comply with the court's orders, and we believe that the legislative branch of the state should be able to correct a situation such as this when at all possible," Smith said.

Persons who receive a license with incorrect information on it should not become alarmed. Corrections will be made when the license is brought to the County Revenue office for a validation sticker.

Motorists who changed addresses during the last year and did not notify their local Post Office will probably not get their license in the mail. These people need only go to their County Revenue Office, pay the required fee, and a license will be issued.

Fighting Has Erupted on Two Fronts

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Con Thien war front erupted again Thursday, with U.S. Marines driving North Vietnamese troops from their bunkers after a close-quarter battle just below the demilitarized zone. Meanwhile, a Red force continued to menace a U.S. infantry battalion at the Bu Dop Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border.

A company of Marines searching for Red troops 2.4 miles northeast of Con Thien ran into heavy machine-gun and mortar fire from an entrenched North Vietnamese company, estimated at about 135 men.

Three more Leatherneck companies joined the battle, giving the Marines about 700 men. Maneuvering around the enemy's flank, the Americans drove the Communists out of their heavily fortified positions in a four-hour battle.

Field reports said 26 North Vietnamese and 15 Americans were killed and 54 Americans wounded in the fighting, which was at such close quarters that the Marines could not use their artillery.

The fighting broke a lull on the DMZ front during which the Communists had concentrated on new targets, chiefly allied outposts along South Vietnam's 400-mile-long land border with Cambodia.

The enemy's aim on both fronts apparently is the same — to operate close to his supply trails and to draw Americans away from protection of more populous areas where the government's pacification program has been making progress.

At Bu Dop, three miles from the Cambodian border and 80 miles north of Saigon, an under-strength battalion from the U.S. 1st Infantry Division which drove off a hard Red assault early Thursday reported today that a large Communist force was still facing it.

An American patrol bumped into the enemy lines just 75 yards from the end of the American air strip and pulled back from a Communist volley of sniper fire and claymore mines. The Americans called in Air Force jets to hit the enemy positions with bombs and napalm.

Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported from the camp that the air strip was the battalion's only link to the outside.

Fighting around the Bu Dop Special Forces camp and the nearby Bo Duc district headquarters has been going on since Tuesday. The 1st Division battalion was sent in Wednesday to reinforce South Vietnamese troops. Its Commander, Lt. Col. James F. Cochran III of Tallahassee, Fla., claimed at least 100 Communist troops were killed when they tried to overrun the battalion early Thursday.

To be eligible for an Arkansas operator's or chauffeur's license, an applicant must possess and surrender to the Revenue Department one of the following:

An Arkansas operator's or chauffeur's license which is valid or not expired for over 365 days.

An out-of-state operator's or chauffeur's license which is valid or not expired for over 31 days.

An Arkansas State Revenue Department form which certifies that the applicant is eligible.

An examination certificate issued by an Arkansas State Police Driver Examiner.

Eligible applicants for Arkansas chauffeur's licenses, either regular or for hire, will be issued licenses which will expire on the last day of their birth month in 1969. The fee will be $5.

Three general types of validation stickers will be used. For an operator's license issued to a person born in an odd-numbered year, a red sticker will be used. The fee will be $2 and the license will expire in 1969.

For an operator's license issued to a person born in an even numbered year, a blue sticker will be used. The fee will be $4 and the license will expire in 1970.

A green validation sticker will be used on all chauffeur's licenses. Persons who receive a license with incorrect information on it should not become alarmed. Corrections will be made when the license is brought to the County Revenue office for a validation sticker.

Motorists who changed addresses during the last year and did not notify their local Post Office will probably not get their license in the mail. These people need only go to their County Revenue Office, pay the required fee, and a license will be issued.

GP Workers to Vote on Firm Offer

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — Members of local 5475 of the International Woodworkers of America are scheduled to vote at 6 p.m. today on whether to ratify another offer from officials of the Georgia-Pacific Corp.

Management of the plywood operations of the firm's two plants at Crossett, officials of the union and the bargaining committee of the local reached a tentative agreement Thursday which would settle the five-week old strike at the two plants if ratified.

The local has about 800 members.

Jim Nichols, financial secretary of the local, said that if the agreement is ratified the two plants would resume operations Monday morning.

The local rejected Georgia-Pacific offer last Saturday.

Details of Thursday's offer was not released pending the outcome of today's vote.

Possible Peace Meet Thwarted

SAIGON (AP) — Well-informed sources said today a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and a high-ranking representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front was thwarted recently when South Vietnamese police arrested the Viet Cong emissary.

The U.S. Embassy issued a statement later saying: "Allegations about planned or actual meetings between high officials of the U.S. Embassy and representatives of the VC-NLF as reported by The Associated Press are false. The U.S. Embassy would, of course, not undertake any such contacts without the knowledge of the GVN (Government of South Vietnam)."

The "actual meetings" referred to in the statement apparently regarded reports from other sources that a meeting between U.S. officials and Viet Cong representatives did take place in a "neutral embassy" in Saigon within the last 10 days.

A Saigon newspaper said the proposed Bunker meeting was arranged by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency without letting the Vietnamese government know about it. A member of the South Vietnamese House of Representatives also implied that the CIA tried to set up a contact with the Viet Cong without advising the Saigon government.

The sources who reported the meeting that didn't come off said it was arranged for early in November but national police arrested the Communist envoy in Saigon before he reached the embassy.

The sources said it was believed the police did not know the purpose of the Viet Cong agent's visit to Saigon, but the agent "spilled the beans" after he was questioned.

The embassy also denied a report from other sources that Viet Cong representatives did meet in a "neutral embassy" in Saigon within the past 10 days with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the deputy U.S. military commander in Vietnam; Deputy U.S. Ambassador Eugene M. Locke and Capt. Robert J. O'Brien, in charge of the embassy security guard.

The Liberation Front representatives were Le Van Huan and Huong Van Le, these sources said.

The meeting took place while Ambassador Bunker and the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, were in Washington.

The presence of Abrams indicated the meeting had something to do with military matters, possibly with the coming Christmas and New Year's cease-fires, or perhaps in connection with a prisoner exchange.

The reports of the contacts between the embassy and the Viet Cong come on the heels of indications from captured documents that the Viet Cong may be trying to set up talks with the United States to seek a coalition government for South Vietnam.

The leaders of the South Vietnamese government are adamantly opposed to a coalition government and would be highly annoyed if the United States tried to meet separately with the Viet Cong.

One source said the meeting with Bunker that didn't come off had been arranged by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, perhaps without Bunker's knowledge.

the American people." He also emphasized he wants spending held down during the year beginning July 1 as well as the present fiscal year, and applauded Schultze for saying this was the administration intention.

But Mills also gave the administration a broad hint his committee may want to see the 1969 budget figures before deciding on taxes.

"I believe that more—particularly more specific—information is needed in this area before we can come to any conclusions on the tax increase," he said.

The committee's senior Republican, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, agreed the panel would want to know 1969 budget plans before endorsing a tax hike.

Canada Ups Taxes to Fight Inflation

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's Liberal government went to war against inflation today, raising taxes on alcohol and tobacco 10 per cent at once and slapping a 5 per cent surcharge on personal income taxes come Jan. 1.

The surcharge, announced by Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp in a budget speech to the House of Commons Thursday night, affects five of every six Canadians paying income tax.

More tax increases appear to lie ahead. Sharp said tax measures will be required to finance medical care insurance due to come into effect next July 1.

Opposition members of Commons attacked the budget measures as an attempt to get out of a bad situation brought on by past fiscal mistakes.

Presenting his fourth budget in less than two years, Sharp made clear Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's government is more concerned about inflation than about any economic low-down that might result from tax increases. He told a news conference after his speech that a recession is inevitable if the economy continues to suffer from inflation.

The income tax surcharge will apply only when a person's basic tax exceeds $100. The maximum additional levy is $600. Single persons making less than $2,000 a year and a married man with two children earning up to $3,600 escape.

The other taxes will mean an extra 15 cents on a 25-ounce bottle of liquor, nine cents on a 24-bottle case of beer and one cent on a 25-ounce bottle of wine. All these increases are before provincial liquor commissions add their markups and provincial sales taxes.

UAW to Set Strike Date Against GM

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union served notice today on General Motors that it has set Dec. 14 as a "target date" for reaching agreement on a new national labor contract covering the auto maker's 330,000 UAW-represented workers.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen following a two-hour meeting of the union's General Motors Council that if no agreement is reached by the target date, the union will then set a "strike deadline."

Reuther indicated top officials of the union were not in favor of calling workers off their jobs during the Christmas and New Year holidays. A strike during this time would deprive workers of holiday pay.

The union chieftain said the UAW strategy is aimed at obtaining an agreement on national issues by Dec. 14 and then concentrating on local issues at plants around the nation early next year.

General Motors has indicated it is willing to write a contract with the union that is within the limits of the record economic agreements won for the union's 160,000 members at Ford Motor Co. and 103,000 at Chrysler Corp.

Whether or not the union makes any special demands of GM could be a key factor in causing a strike.

One company source said that if Reuther goes for any "frosting" on the cake at GM, "He'll be in for a big fight."

The union told the company Monday that what it called "erosion of the bargaining unit" by moving automated jobs out of union jurisdiction will be an important issue.

Representation, specifically the company requirement that union committeemen work at least an hour a day on their regular jobs, is also expected to cause trouble.

The union represents 380,000 workers at GM.

A strike at the Detroit universal division of Chrysler was averted Thursday night with a tentative agreement on local issues. A strike deadline set for this morning was withdrawn pending expected ratification of the contract.

Students Can Smoke in School

COQUITLAM, B.C. (AP)—Ashtrays have been added to the table settings in the cafeteria of the Centennial Senior High School in this Vancouver suburb.

Allowing students to smoke at school started as an experiment, but Cam McKenzie, the school's cigar-puffing principal, says it has worked well and improved the relationship between students and teachers.

"The students who smoked were doing so on the parking lot and in washrooms," McKenzie said. "It was a furtive thing that we didn't think should be part of the school atmosphere."

he did in the Valenti and Bundy cases.

At the same time, he wants no one to think that he encouraged McNamara's decision or even hastened it.

If the President were to draw up his own chronology of how the McNamara saga progressed, it doubtless would go very much like this:

—April 18: George D. Woods, current president of the World Bank, invited McNamara to lunch, saying it was a personal matter. McNamara accepted the invitation and was sounded out by Woods, whose term was expiring Dec. 31, of this year on whether the defense secretary might be interested in the job. McNamara was.

McNamara subsequently reported this conversation to the President and, while expressing interest in the bank job, made it clear he would remain in the Cabinet as long as Johnson felt necessary.

—August: With no firm successor lined up, Woods worked out an arrangement to remain as bank president until Dec. 31, 1968, with a proviso that he would leave earlier if a successor were found.

—September: Directors of the bank worked out an agreement that the United States would propose, by Oct. 31, one or more candidates for the bank presidency.

—Mid-October: Johnson told McNamara that candidates would have to be proposed soon and inquired if the Cabinet member was still interested. McNamara said he was, repeating he would not leave the Pentagon until Johnson felt he could release him.

—Nov. 8: Woods, with the Oct. 31 deadline past, sought a meeting with McNamara. The secretary had a busy schedule and they arranged to confer in McNamara's limousine, which was bound for the White House. Woods reminded his host-on-wheels that time was running out.

—Nov. 13: Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler met with Johnson, who told him McNamara is his only choice for the bank post.

—Nov. 16: Fowler met at the Treasury with Woods and Livingston Merchant, U.S. director of the bank, and all agreed McNamara is their man.

—Nov. 19 or 20: Woods phoned McNamara and told him Johnson backed the McNamara candidacy and that his name would be placed in nomination Nov. 21.

—Nov. 21: Merchant proposed McNamara to the World Bank directors.

—Nov. 27: News of the McNamara candidacy started leaking to newsmen in foreign capitals. McNamara and Johnson conferred about the matter and the defense secretary said he would take a "no comment" stance.

—Nov. 23: Directors of the bank formally offered McNamara the presidency.

Letter Turned Over to FBI

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Mayor Tom Currigan's life was threatened in a crudely printed, unsigned letter mailed in Denver, an aide reported Tuesday.

The letter, delivered to Currigan Monday, has been turned over to the FBI.

The letter indicated displeasure with Currigan's efforts for fair housing. It accused him of having "gone too far," and closed by saying, "you're going to get a bullet in your head."

UN Preparing Peace Appeal on Cyprus

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant prepared a peace appeal today to Greece and Turkey, setting the stage for a face-saving agreement to close out the threats of war over Cyprus.

Thant's move was designed to lessen the prospect of adverse Greek public reaction. It was believed the Greek people would be less aroused by a positive response to an appeal to Thant than by outright capitulation to Turkey's demands.

Thant in his appeal was to call for the terms worked out by the three international peace-makers who shuffled back and forth between Athens and Ankara this week, informants said.

Major points include the withdrawal of Greek and Turkish regular army troops stationed illegally on Cyprus, Greek compensation for Turkish Cypriots killed in fighting on the island Nov. 15, and an end to Turkey's threat to invade the island 40 miles off its southern coast.

While disposing of the immediate issues, such an agreement would not settle the basic differences which brought the Greek Cypriot majority and the Turkish Cypriot minority to civil war in 1963 and has kept the island in a state of armed truce since a U.N. peace force intervened the next year.

The 1963 civil war was set off by the abrogation of the special political rights given the Turkish Cypriots in the 1960 agreements which freed Cyprus from British rule. Once the British were gone, President Makarios insisted on majority rule for his Greek Cypriots. Now the Turkish Cypriots have revived their demand for partition of the island between the two ethnic communities.

Before completing his appeal message, Thant planned to hear from U.N. Undersecretary Jose Rolz-Bennett, who returned to New York Thursday night from his mission as Thant's personal representative to help settle the crisis.

Manlio Brosio, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, returned to his headquarters in Brussels Thursday after doing his part to keep the two NATO allies from fighting.

Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's special envoy, was still in Athens.

Mental Spending Method Lashed

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—David R. Ray Jr., executive director of the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, said Thursday that it is time to face the fact that the needs of 75 per cent of the retarded haven't been touched because 95 per cent of the money spent so far has served the middle class.

Ray said mental retardation is the No. 1 child problem and that statistics indicate 75 per cent of retardation is cultural as much as physical.

Ray said there is a pressing need to concentrate on other retarded persons who are facing existence without the benefit of any type of training.

Ray served as superintendent of the Arkansas Children's Colony at Conway from its inception in 1957 until 1964.

Printing Board Ruled Illegal By Judge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Chancellor John T. Jernigan ruled Thursday that Act 441 of 1967, which created the state Printing Specifications Review Committee, is unconstitutional.

The committee was created to prepare bid specifications and state printing contracts.

Judge Jernigan enjoined the Committee members from performing their duties under the act and said he would sign a decree voiding it. The ruling is expected to be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The legality of the Act was questioned by Eric J. Ambort of Little Rock in a taxpayer's suit. The suit contends that the three members of the Committee were under the governor's control contrary to Article 19, Section 15, of the State Constitution.

The section says no member or officer of any department of the government shall be interested in contracts concerning state supplies and all such contracts shall be subject to the approval of the governor, state auditor and state treasurer. All existing state printing contracts expire Dec. 31.

BRIDE-ELECT FETED WITH GIFT TEA
Miss Barbara Thompson, bride-elect of Tommy Porter of Okay, was feted with a Gift Tea on the evening of November 24 in the home of Mrs. Tom Waters with Mrs. Gene Jines and Mrs. Charles Stone, co-hostesses.

The honoree was attired in white wool and pinned a corsage of white carnations tied with blue at her shoulder. Similar flowers were given to Mrs. Grover Thompson and Mrs. Cecil Porter of Okay, mothers of the engaged couple, and Mrs. Anna Brown, grandmother of the bride-elect.

Roses were seen at vantage throughout the home. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and blue Dutch irises, which carried out the bride's chosen color scheme.

The hostesses served punch, cake squares, nuts, and mints to friends calling between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m. Miss Thompson received many pretty and useful gifts, which Miss Ann Mitchell showed to those calling.

BRIDGE - LUNCHEON AT COUNTRY CLUB
Mrs. Charles Sharpe, Jr., Mrs. Roger Case, and Mrs. Bob Kellam were hostesses for the Ladies Bridge-Luncheon held at the Hope Country Club on Thursday, November 30. Red pyracantha berries and greenery decorated the center of the serving table. A potluck luncheon was enjoyed by 20.

In the afternoon, bridge was played at 5 tables. High scorer was Mrs. C. P. Tolleson, and second high was Mrs. Clyde Fouse. The consolation prize went to Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, and the game prize was won by Mrs. Jim Pruden.

Hope Community T.V., Inc. entertained the above Hope Television dealers and servicemen at a luncheon held at the Town & Country Restaurant last Wednesday.

General Manager David Mooney presided and introduced Kenneth Poindexter, Public Relations Director for the company; Herbert Biddle, Chief Technician and Mary Gail Davis, Office manager.

Grand Opening for the Cable Television company will be Saturday, December 9, in the Hope Fair Park Coliseum.

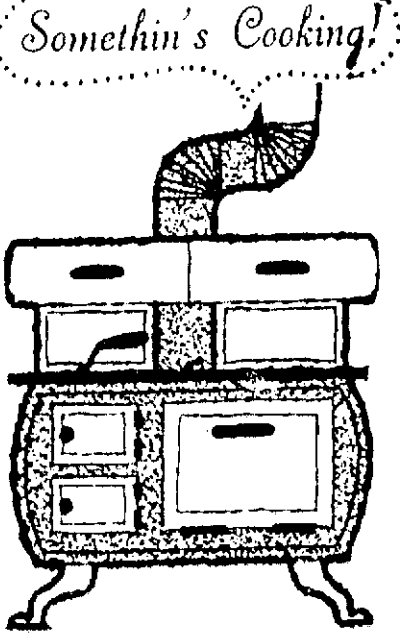

Easy Meals for the Busy Yule Season

Christmas shopping days sometimes cause problems with meal planning. Good planning equals good meals.

You can make busy day meals just as nutritious, appetizing, and colorful as any other meal. Good planning is the secret.

Do you like to cook most of the meal in one dish or utensil? Want a quick and easy broiled meal? Do you ever cook whole meals in your oven at one time? All these meals are possible and nutritious. The daily requirements of meats, vegetables, milk or cheese, and breads can be prepared in these simple ways.

The Extension bulletin, EASY MEALS FOR BUSY DAYS, contains many recipes for simple meals. If you would like this free bulletin call the Agricultural Extension Service, Pr. 7-5771.

Off-Season Baseball Rhubarb

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Major league baseball had a confusing, off-season rhubarb on its hands today between players and their owners.

"Somebody's lying. And I don't think it's the owners," said Paul Richards, general manager of the Atlanta Braves. "If this guy continues these kind of tactics we just might have to get into the gutter with him."

Richards was referring Thursday to Marvin Miller, former negotiator for the steelworkers who is now executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Miller and 21 players called an unusual news conference Thursday to express the players' "extreme dissatisfaction in the negotiations with the owners and representatives of the owners group."

The players gave the owners a "statement of policy" a year ago which demands, among other things, an increase in the minimum big league salary from $7,000 to $12,000 a year.

"Since then we have had very few meetings and very little progress," Miller said. "The players' representatives came to Mexico expecting to at least meet with the owners' player relations committee, he said."

Joe Cronin, president of the American League, read a joint statement from the owners several hours after the news conference in which he claimed Miller knew beforehand the players could not negotiate with the owners here during the winter baseball meetings.

"Very serious consideration will be given to holding a convention of all major league players so they can decide what to do next," Miller said. "They may want to take specific action."

Neither Miller nor the players said what the specific action might be. Steve Hamilton of the New York Yankees said there had been no mention of a strike despite the unhappiness among the players with the pace of negotiations.

"We still want to negotiate," Hamilton said.

"I've never heard it mentioned," Cronin said when asked if he thought there might be a players' strike.

"I don't think it's a serious problem. When the player relations committee meets with the players I think this will be old news," Cronin said.

"We were told further discussion would be needed in Mexico City," Miller said. "The only reason the players are here is to conclude the negotiations. Now we're told the owners are too busy."

Part of the confusion was in the type of meeting referred to by Conlin and Miller. The league president's statement said Miller had been advised before coming to Mexico that "no bargaining meeting could be held in Mexico City until after the player relations committee, representing all major league clubs, had received guidance from the 20 owners."

Then he added: "After receiving guidance from the owners as to each item, the player relations committee reaffirmed to Mr. Miller the statement given him last evening (Wednesday) that the members of the player relations committee could not be available at any time during the balance of the week because of the heavy schedule of league meetings, but that the committee would meet with Mr. Miller and the players as soon as next Thursday in New York City."

Miller apparently was not unhappy because there could be no "20-20 meeting" but he emphasized the players expected to meet with the committee. It cost the association more than $10,000 to assemble the group in Mexico City, he said.

Cronin said there will be no meeting in New York City Thursday "to permit Mr. Miller and some of his associates to take a week's holiday in Acapulco" but that a meeting may be held the following week.

First Defeat

The first defeat in the history of an English squadron took place in the War of 1812, when the British were defeated by an American naval force at the Battle of Lake Erie.

Cronin said there will be no meeting in New York City Thursday "to permit Mr. Miller and some of his associates to take a week's holiday in Acapulco" but that a meeting may be held the following week.

Many Hog Sophs to See Action

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

Two years ago University of Arkansas Coach Duddy Waller recruited what was considered the best group of basketball players the state's high schools had produced in a single year.

Yet, Waller has several make-sense reasons for not starting any of those recruits — now sophomores — in the Razorbacks' season opener against the University of Missouri here Saturday.

Waller says that the sophomores are generally inconsistent because of a lack of experience. "One time we'll look like All-Americans and the next time we look like Ned in the First Reader," Waller said.

"Sophomores are going to make mistakes but the thing we're more proud of is the effort," Waller said. "Each one is giving 110 per cent but sometimes that hurts. Sometimes they just try too hard instead of keeping their poise."

"We plan to play nine or ten especially in the early games," Waller said. "But, I don't believe it is fair to start a sophomore above a boy who has already played."

"I'm afraid we're going to be real erratic at the start," he said. "Our effort is far exceeding our execution. We haven't seen the boys under game pressure. There is just so much that you can get done until you play."

"Some people felt like these boys were super human beings because of the publicity and all," Waller said. "They'll see that they are human... but, there is some talent there if they continue at a normal rate of progress."

Waller says the Razorbacks' bench strength will be greater than in the past because of the sophomores but said the team lacked a standout leader.

"We haven't got as much as leadership as we'd like," Waller said. "We've asked each of the boys to be a leader. When something goes wrong we don't want them to lose their poise."

The starting lineup against Missouri will include juniors Benton Cole, Jackie Kimbrell and Gary Stephens, senior David Self and red-shirt sophomore James Eldridge.

Waller says sophomores Ricky Tanneberger, Bobby Vint, Mack McAllister, Danny Keeter and Robert McKenzie will see action.

"We believe we'll have an exciting team to watch," Waller said. "We're going to run with the ball. I don't mean every time but when we can get just as good a shot with a fast break as we can with a pattern we'll run."

"We believe we'll have an exciting team to watch," Waller said. "We're going to run with the ball. I don't mean every time but when we can get just as good a shot with a fast break as we can with a pattern we'll run."

"We'll do a lot of pressing on defense. We're not going to do a whole lot of things offense. We're going to stick to the bare fundamentals," Waller said.

El Dorado Cats' Foe Tonight

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

With all the pre-season forecasts set aside, it's time to find out the whole truth of the matter of the Hope Bobcats. The team starts with tonight's game against the El Dorado Wildcats in Jones Field House.

Head Bobcat Coach Joe Austin has been on the pessimist's side throughout the workouts preceding tonight's battle, and a Bobcat victory over the AAA Wildcats would certainly be termed an upset for the Bobcats. El Dorado lost in their last outing, falling 89-74 to an outstanding Pine Bluff crew.

The big gun for the Wildcats appears to be Shepard, who scored 21 against Pine Bluff. Purdie, Endsley, Loggin, and Simmons round out the probable starting five for the Wildcats, who as a team score with fairly good balance. Like most of the bigger AAA schools, for some reason El Dorado has only mediocre foul shooting, and this could be an instrument in the Bobcats' favor.

No one is sure who will start for the Bobcats, but a list of likely starters includes Dwight Galloway jumping center, John Henley and Larry East at the forward slots, and Richard Saltee and Donnie Middlebrooks at guard. Since all five of these are seniors, the bigger leaders will be on the court for the opening tip-off.

The game itself will be preceded by a "B" Team game between the two schools, and it will begin at 6:30 p.m. Everyone come out to Jones Field House and support the Bobcats all the way during the 1967-68 basketball season.

Waller says sophomores Ricky Tanneberger, Bobby Vint, Mack McAllister, Danny Keeter and Robert McKenzie will see action.

Blevins and Yerger Split Two Games
By CHARLES JONES
Yerger Sports Writer

The Yerger Tiger senior boys were defeated by Blevins senior boys 58 to 49 Wednesday night in Harris gymnasium.

However, the Junior boys came through with a victory, scoring 43 to 41 over the Blevins juniors. John Dudley led the Junior team with 22 points.

Porkers Place Four on All-SWC

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Levas, Southern Methodist's pass-catcher and kick returner par excellence; Chris Gilbert, Texas Tech's great blocker; and Greg Pipes, Baylor's defensive terror, were unanimous choices on the All-Southwest Conference football team.

Texas A&M, the champion, got the most places, landing five on the defensive and offensive first teams. Arkansas and Texas Tech came up with four apiece while Rice, Texas and Texas Christian each placed three and Baylor and Southern Methodist got one each.

It is a 24-man squad since there were ties for two positions. The team was picked by the eight coaching staffs for The Associated Press.

Bob Long, Texas A&M's clutch pass-catcher, and Levas are the ends. Ernest Hupke of Arkansas and Leland Winston of Rice are the tackles. Danny Abbott of Texas and Tucker the guards, Jerry Turner of Texas Tech the center, Ed Hargett of Texas A&M at quarterback, Gilbert, Mike Lehnert of Texas Tech and Larry Stegert of Texas A&M at halfbacks and Ross Montgomery of Texas Christian at fullback.

Lehnert and Stegert tied for the halfback post opposite Gilbert.

Tucker got four votes for guard and four for tackle, so he could be considered unanimous. Hargett won the quarterback post by getting all except one vote.

The defensive team is led by Pipes, Baylor's mighty lineman who received six votes for tackle and two for guard.

Hardford Hamilton of Arkansas was a near unanimous choice for defensive end. The other end was a tie between Grady Allen of Texas A&M and Jay Collins of Rice.

Danny Cross of Texas Christian became Pipes' mate at tackle. David Cooper of Arkansas and Loyd Wainwright of Texas Tech were picked at the guards.

Bill Hobbs of Texas A&M, getting seven of the eight votes, was named linebacker along with big Ed Mooney of Texas Tech. Defensive halfbacks are Tommy Trantham of Arkansas and Hugo Hollas of Rice. Cuts by Butler of Texas Christian was picked at safety.

Preemptive Bid Stirs Things Up

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Q—My sister, 49, has had a burning, sore, swollen tongue for over a year. She has been to three doctors who have given her vitamins and allergy shots but these haven't helped her. What would you advise?

A—A swelling or a burning pain in the tongue may be caused by a vitamin deficiency, iron deficiency, thyroid deficiency, anemia, excessive smoking, rough jagged teeth, allergy to lipstick, trichinosis or neuralgia. In many persons, however, the cause cannot be identified. The condition is commonly seen in women who are in their 50s and are emotionally high-strung. Fear of cancer may cause them to magnify the soreness in the tongue out of all proportion. In such cases, after a thorough examination to make sure no serious disease is present, a short course of tranquilizer often helps.

Q—Every morning on arising my tongue is heavily coated. What causes it and what can I do for it?

A—The cause is failure to eat enough food that requires much chewing—dry toast, raw carrots, raw apples and the like. Thorough chewing of these foods removes the coating of dead cells that is constantly accumulating on the surface of your tongue. If for any reason you can't eat these foods, you may use a small cloth to hold the tip of your tongue and brush the surface once or twice a day with a toothbrush.

Q—Since February I have had what my doctor calls a black hairy tongue. I have been using hydrogen peroxide as a mouthwash but it doesn't help. Is it cancer? How can I get rid of it?

A—Black hairy tongue is caused by a fungus. It is not related to cancer. If it cannot be removed by brushing your tongue with a toothbrush, you should see your doctor.

Q—I have migratory glossitis or geographic tongue. What causes it? Is there any cure for it?

A—The cause of this patchy redness of the tongue is not known. The condition is not serious. The chances are that no one will know you have it if you don't brag about it. No treatment is required and it usually clears up in a few days, but it may return.
